Quick question: where does a loan application become a customer problem?

Team,

Before this becomes another standing report, can we answer the real question?

Loan Products wants to understand application drop-off, decline reasons, booked loans and early repayment stress as one journey. The possible stories are that documentation friction drives drop-off, that some high-conversion channels create weaker early outcomes, or that affordability declines are concentrated by product.

Please start with the decision we need to make, then show whether the available evidence is strong enough to support it.

Please prepare a one-page finding note plus the underlying CSV for our own review. The output must help us decide which application step, policy explanation or channel process should change.

Data available: the latest closed loan files available by the request date, including affordability, pricing and origination risk fields; monthly customer and KYC snapshots; customer contacts, complaints and suggestions; collections cases, promises to pay and recovery payments.

Please state the limitation plainly: Do not optimise approval rate without affordability, conduct and later-outcome controls.

Thanks
