

Outlook

From	sarah.pillay@analytics.retail.keystonebank.co.za
To	product.fintech@keystonebank.co.za
Cc	pricing.customer.value@keystonebank.co.za, compliance.retail@keystonebank.co.za
Sent	Wed, 22 Apr 2020 15:37:00 -0000

Can we learn whether the campaign caused anything?

Team,

Before this becomes another standing report, can we answer the real question?

Analytics has been asked to report campaign success, but selected customers may already have been more likely to convert. The possible stories are that the campaign creates incremental response, that service problems suppress otherwise suitable offers, or that targeting explains the apparent lift.

There is no confirmed problem yet; this is a request to test an assumption before it becomes policy.

Please prepare a one-page finding note plus the underlying CSV for our own review. The output must help us decide the treatment, control, success window and guardrail measures before the next campaign launches.

Data available: campaign design and customer responses; monthly account snapshots, status events, limits, product enrolments and signatories; transaction-level timestamps, channels, amounts, statuses and error context; customer contacts, complaints and suggestions.

Please state the limitation plainly: Historical campaign responses alone do not identify causal impact where no comparable control group exists.

Thanks