Follow-up: complaint closure quality and repeat harm

Team,

Before this becomes another standing report, can we answer the real question?

Complaint status alone may overstate resolution when the same customer returns, the transaction remains unresolved or the account closes. The possible stories are that resolved complaints do not recur, that resolution notes are generic, or that specific categories lead to repeat contact or attrition.

This has returned because the previous answer was useful but not strong enough to become a standing rule. Use July 2023 as the new evidence point rather than recycling the earlier conclusion. Failure anecdotes are beginning to drive decisions, although retries and late posting may be making the problem look larger than the affected-customer population.

Please prepare a control view with the exceptions, owner and reason each item was included. The output must help us decide which complaint outcomes need quality review and which root causes need fixing.

Data available: customer contacts, complaints and suggestions; transaction-level timestamps, channels, amounts, statuses and error context; monthly account snapshots, status events, limits, product enrolments and signatories.

Please state the limitation plainly: The analysis can identify recurrence and later behaviour, not customer satisfaction that was never recorded.

Thanks
