April 2019 early warning features for repayment stress

Hi Analytics,

Can we create a model-ready table for repayment stress using only information available up to the observation date?

Target: failed loan debit, repeat NSF, or collections action in the next 30 days.

Candidate features: balance trend, debit day versus salary window, failed payment history, fees, recent cash withdrawals, first successful card or ATM use, complaint flags and product type.

Please avoid future leakage. A row from an older month must not use outcomes from months that had not happened yet. Same principle for every year.
