Follow-up: are we growing, or only creating more activity?

Hi team,

The headline activity story is positive, but EXCO cannot tell whether it reflects durable customer relationships or short-lived transaction volume.

This has returned because the previous answer was useful but not strong enough to become a standing rule. Use December 2020 as the new evidence point rather than recycling the earlier conclusion. There is no confirmed problem yet; this is a request to test an assumption before it becomes policy.

Can you test these explanations rather than choosing one at the start?

- activity is concentrated in a small set of customers
- new accounts are becoming primary relationships
- service failures are creating volume without creating value

The decision is where to invest and which headline measure should be retired from the management pack. Please give us a control view with the exceptions, owner and reason each item was included.

You should be able to build the evidence from monthly account snapshots, status events, limits, product enrolments and signatories; transaction-level timestamps, channels, amounts, statuses and error context; customer contacts, complaints and suggestions; campaign design and customer responses. Do not describe account activity as profitability; the data does not contain a full revenue and cost allocation.

Thanks
