Follow-up: what is underneath the headline growth?

Team,

Before this becomes another standing report, can we answer the real question?

The headline activity story is positive, but EXCO cannot tell whether it reflects durable customer relationships or short-lived transaction volume. The possible stories are that service failures are creating volume without creating value, that new accounts are becoming primary relationships, or that activity is concentrated in a small set of customers.

This has returned because the previous answer was useful but not strong enough to become a standing rule. Use September 2021 as the new evidence point rather than recycling the earlier conclusion. Several teams are reporting more failed or retried activity than they expected, but they do not agree on the cause.

Please prepare a control view with the exceptions, owner and reason each item was included. The output must help us decide where to invest and which headline measure should be retired from the management pack.

Data available: monthly account snapshots, status events, limits, product enrolments and signatories; transaction-level timestamps, channels, amounts, statuses and error context; customer contacts, complaints and suggestions; campaign design and customer responses.

Please state the limitation plainly: Do not describe account activity as profitability; the data does not contain a full revenue and cost allocation.

Thanks
