Do bundled products deepen relationships or just decorate accounts? - 2023 control review

Team,

Before this becomes another standing report, can we answer the real question?

Product bundles are recorded at account level, but Pricing needs to know whether customers use optional features and remain active. The possible stories are that default products are mistaken for cross-sell, that some bundles increase service contact without increasing use, or that optional products deepen activity.

This has returned because the previous answer was useful but not strong enough to become a standing rule. Use November 2023 as the new evidence point rather than recycling the earlier conclusion. The operating teams agree that more journeys are failing; they disagree on whether the customer, the bank or a downstream party owns the failure.

Please prepare a Power BI page with drill-through to a reproducible case list. The output must help us decide which bundle components should be retained, repriced or removed from campaigns.

Data available: monthly account snapshots, status events, limits, product enrolments and signatories; transaction-level timestamps, channels, amounts, statuses and error context; customer contacts, complaints and suggestions; campaign design and customer responses.

Please state the limitation plainly: Product enrolment is not the same as product usage; define observable use before measuring adoption.

Thanks
