

Outlook

From	emma.steyn@analytics.retail.keystonebank.co.za
To	product.fintech@keystonebank.co.za
Cc	pricing.customer.value@keystonebank.co.za, compliance.retail@keystonebank.co.za
Sent	Mon, 14 Jul 2025 08:58:00 -0000

Please hold back a control group before launch - 2025 control review

Hi team,

Analytics has been asked to report campaign success, but selected customers may already have been more likely to convert.

This has returned because the previous answer was useful but not strong enough to become a standing rule. Use July 2025 as the new evidence point rather than recycling the earlier conclusion. Please start with the decision we need to make, then show whether the available evidence is strong enough to support it.

Can you test these explanations rather than choosing one at the start?

- targeting explains the apparent lift
- service problems suppress otherwise suitable offers
- the campaign creates incremental response

The decision is the treatment, control, success window and guardrail measures before the next campaign launches. Please give us a short decision pack with no more than five slides and an attached evidence table.

You should be able to build the evidence from campaign design and customer responses; monthly account snapshots, status events, limits, product enrolments and signatories; transaction-level timestamps, channels, amounts, statuses and error context; customer contacts, complaints and suggestions. Historical campaign responses alone do not identify causal impact where no comparable control group exists.

Thanks