January 2022 channel movement and hidden defection

Hi Emma,

Product is worried that some customers still keep the account open but move useful activity elsewhere.

Can you check channel movement across branch, phone, card, ATM, app, SMS and email channels and show customers whose transaction activity is falling even though the account is active?

Please split routine activity, product purchase activity and service recovery contacts. We also need a list of customers who should not receive campaigns because recent fees, failed debits or complaints make the timing wrong.

The theme for this month is email servicing and digital onboarding. Keep the view grounded in actual transactions and customer behaviour, not just campaign counts.
