

Banking analytics agenda: five signals to watch this month

By Helen Wasserman | 23 April 2022

Johannesburg financial district skyline

Key banking signals for April 2022:

- Loan payment volume: 6,350 records in comparable internal files.
- Failed-payment rate: 6.5%, with insufficient funds still the main pressure point.
- Processing risk: 95 timeout-related rows point to operational follow-up.
- Digital adoption: industry data indicates channel growth of about 15.9% year on year, driven by app, wallet and USSD activity.
- Customer growth: benchmark estimates show an increase in customers of roughly 28.0% year on year across comparable retail portfolios.
- Control focus: finance teams are separating normal bank charges and interest from genuine reconciliation breaks.

Implication:

Banks need a single management view that connects customer growth, product usage, repayment stress, payment delays and statement exceptions.